SeaWind Class – Rule 8.2 Interpretation

Rule 8.2 requires that any adjustable vang assembly shall use the kit-supplied end fittings. There have been occasions recently and in the past when Kyosho Rod Ends, Part # 6067R have been hard to find or on back order. An alternative rod end which fits the Kyosho balls very well and is very similar in size, appearance and cost to the kit rod end has been identified:

In order to ensure continued availability of suitable rod end fittings for SeaWind alternative vangs I have decided to approve the use of this alternative rod end for such purposes.

This ruling shall be in force until the next Class Ballot when it will be submitted for member vote before being made a permanent part of the Class Rules.
